INTERNATIONAL LABOUR OFFICE

JULY 1922.

Note upon the measures taken to give effect to the Draft Conventions and Recommendations adopted by the International Labour Conference.

The present Note summarises the information concerning action taken in execution of the Draft Conventions and Recommendations adopted by the International Labour Conference which is published in the Official Bulletin of the International Labour Office.

It is divided into two parts ; the first gives in detail a list of the Acts, Bills and other measures which have arisen up to date out of the International Labour Conference and which have been brought to the notice of the International Labour Office ; the second consists of a series of tables which show at a glance the chief results obtained up to date and in particular the ratifications registered.

A detailed account of the results which the growing influence of the decisions of the Conference has achieved would be of inconvenient length. Such results are frequently outside the sphere of legislation proper and States which have not yet adopted definite legislative measures have recognised nevertheless the importance of the principles embodied in the Conventions and Recommendations, and in many cases preparatory work is in hand and the way is clear for eventual ratifications.

Up to the present the results attained are considerable, as the following figures will show ¹.
